Record Enrollment Floods OU With 8100 Students

"... But, but ... I'm in Applied Arts!"

A record enrollment of 81 hundred students swarmed onto the Omaha University campus. Although registration figures are not complete yet, the registrar office reports approximately 3,450 students are attending day school while the College of Adult Education reports some 4,650 evening students.

A five to 10 per cent increase over last year's 77 hundred is expected by President Milo Bail.

Registrar Alice Smith said that students may add day courses until tomorrow noon and evening students until Monday evening at 6:30. A late registration fee is being charged.

One-third of all classes were closed by capacity enrollment, Miss Smith added.

Faculty members considered enrollment in both freshman and upper classes higher than in previous years. An estimated 15 hundred new students, freshmen and transfers are figured in the counting.

Some 360 bootstrappers, military men and women who have six months to earn their college degrees, are numbered in the enrollment increase.

There are about 250 nurses enrolled from St. Catherine's, St. Joseph's, Veterans, Methodist, Clarkson, Immanuel and University Hospitals in Omaha and Jennie Edmundson Hospital in Council Bluffs.

Book Store Will Replenish Supply

The book store expects to receive fill-in orders on out-of-stock books within the next ten days.

They are out of social science, biology, geography and several engineering books.

Ben Koenig, book store manager, said, "We attempt to anticipate the demand by last year's enrollment, but it's difficult to guess what the increased enrollment will be."

Orders for books were placed early in July this year, but the publishers have been slow to deliver, according to Koenig. Creighton University has the same problem and the OU Book Store has had requests from eighteen students.

Twenty-two Join Faculty This Fall

Twenty-two new faculty members greeted Omaha University students at the opening of classes this week.

Associate professor Dr. John Blackwell returns to OU after one year at the University of Southern Florida. He will head the art department as the did in 1958-60.

Dr. D. T. Pedrini, associate professor of psychology is the new director of the Child Study Services. He was formerly associated with the Glenwood State School.

Dr. Willis P. Rokes, a former assistant professor at Montana State University, is the new chairman of the insurance department and associate professor.

Dr. Elroy Steele, a new associate professor of economics, comes from Washburn University.

New Speech Prof.

C. Harold Bush, from Kansas State College, will be an assistant professor in the speech department. Neva Currie, assistant professor of biology, is a graduate of Ohio State University and Millikin University in Illinois.

Albeno Garbin comes from Louisiana State College and will be assistant professor of sociology.

William B. LeMar, who received his masters degree from Yale, is an assistant professor in engineering.

Donald E. Shult, assistant professor of physics, is a graduate of Western Illinois University. Sebastian A. Spagnuolo, a former Omahan from the Universidad Interamericana in Mexico, is the new assistant professor in foreign languages.

OU Grads

Four of the new instructors are graduates of OU. Robert L. Ackerman who received his bachelor and masters degree from the University in 1952, returns as an instructor of elementary education. Joe E. Hanna, instructor of secondary education, received his bachelors and masters degrees from OU in 1956.

Miss Virginia Frank, a 1959 graduate who did her graduate work at Brown University, Rhode Island on a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, returns as an instructor of English. Mrs. Rosalie Saltzman, a 1959 graduate, is also an instructor of English. She did graduate work at Iowa University under a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship.

James Q. Borsheim, instructor of men's physical education is from Dakota Wesleyan University, South Dakota. Wayne M. Higley from the University of Illinois is an instructor in accounting.

Part Time Assist.

Albert J. Larson, a graduate of the University of Nebraska, will be an instructor in geography. George Morgan will be a part time assistant instructor in that department.

A new marketing instructor, Sherman W. McCord, comes from Union University in Tennessee. Donald K. Orban, from Indiana University is a speech instructor. Raymond Smith, who comes from Stanford University, will be an instructor in history.

Matthew J. Severin is a part-time instructor of microbiology.

Virgil Sharp, who was a former speech instructor and assistant to the dean of the College of Adult Education, is now the assistant registrar. He is in charge of registration procedures, data processing in the registrar office and the C.A.E. registration procedures.

Summer Changes Campus By Additions, Remodeling

More than $230,000 will be spent by the University of Omaha by the end of this school year for building additions and remodeling designed to meet the increased enrollment.

The biggest project of several additions is the new southwest wing proposed for the Applied Arts Building. The wing was left off when the building was constructed in 1959 because of a lack of funds.

Dr. Milo Bail, president of the University, explained that the addition will complete the "C" shape of the AA Building. He hopes the project can be completed for less than $200,000.

Architects John Latenser and Sons have been authorized to draw plans and receive bids for the two-story, 48 by 57-foot addition. The wing will contain eight classrooms, a lecture hall and an industrial engineering laboratory.

Dr. Bail pointed out that these classrooms are needed for every department in the College of Applied Arts and Sciences, and especially for the College of Adult Education.

Construction is scheduled to begin this fall, and University officials hope the wing will be ready for the summer session of 1962.

Eight-Lane Bowling

An eight-lane bowling alley under the sundeck of the Student Center is also on the agenda for this year.

Estimates are being considered now for the cost of finishing the room, installing alleys, and leasing equipment.

The 50 by 100-foot bowling alley may be ready for use next February.

The administration is investigating sites and prices for campus tennis courts with the hope that they will be available for the spring season.

Dr. Bail said the University is considering constructing two or three courts, but has run into a problem of space.

Areas near the West Quonset Hut and east and southwest of the Athletic Field are under consideration for the courts.

P.E. Addition

Already completed and in use is a new steel frame building which will be of special interest to coeds this fall.

The $29,000 building is adjacent to the West Quonset and houses new physical education and intramural facilities for women. Shuffleboard, badminton and volleyball courts are inlaid in the tile floor.

Next door the old White House has been converted into a ceramics laboratory. Students will be able to give their ceramic projects "that professional touch" in the adjacent $1,300 kiln.

Remodeled Classrooms

OU facilities are not only being expanded on the ground, but upward as well. Partitions have been removed to make a biology storeroom and a history room on the third floor of the Administration Building.

Upstairs on the fourth floor, the chemistry balance room has made way for a new chemistry laboratory.

The Administration Building Auditorium is now receiving a face lifting. This remodeling includes an enlarged stage, an orchestra pit, a director's control booth, a sloping floor, and new seats.

The 600 new seats will be installed during October according to Dr. Bail. This will reduce seating accommodations to about one hundred less than before.

OU to Celebrate 53rd Anniversary

Omaha University students will participate in the Founder's Day celebration on Oct. 6. This celebration on October 6. This celebration is in commemoration of the University's 53rd year on the Omaha scene.

Classes will be dismissed from 9:30 a. m. until 1:30 p. m.

Chairman of the days activities, William Gerbracht, expressed the hope that all campus organizations would participate in a mass parade on the stadium field.

Congressman Gerald R. Ford (Rep., Michigan) will appear as guest speaker. The theme of the celebration will be "Our Responsibility for the Defense of Our Nation."

Alum Association Collects $9,716

The 1961 Alumni Association fund drive has passed last year's mark by $2,500 according to executive secretary, Betty Davis. A total of $9,716.38 was collected in the six-month drive.

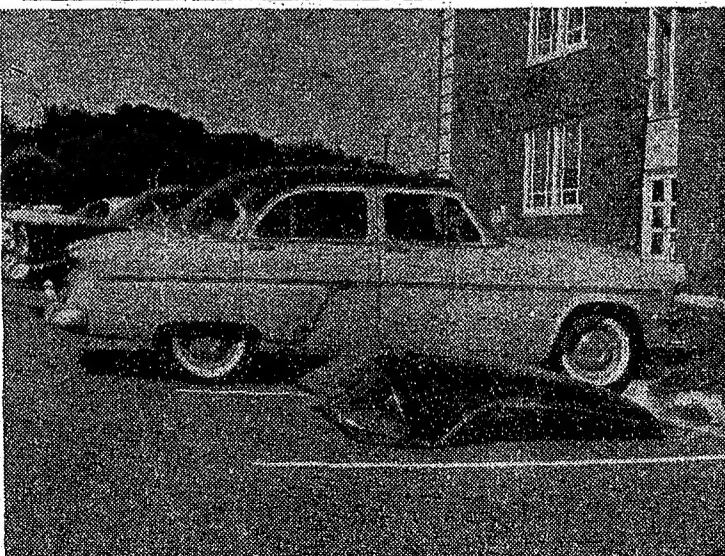

The money will be used for grant-in-aid scholarships for athletics, for undergraduate scholarships, a building fund and Alumni Association activities. The athletic scholarships total $4,200.

Applications are now being accepted for the scholarship awarded through the Association by the Pen and Sword Society.

Scholarship Forms Available in 232

Bootstrappers who wish to apply for the Pen and Sword-sponsored scholarship may secure forms in the Alumni Office, Room 232, Student Center. Applications are due by Friday, Sept. 29.

Requirements are: a scholastic average of at least 3.0, a class standing above freshman level, and a field of study in the arts and sciences. The scholarship will cover tuition for the next full year of study.

Many Omaha students found parking spaces pretty scarce Monday morning. Once this freshman got his place, he made sure it would be there when he came back. Burney Ramming left the top of his car to reserve the space. Mrs. Eunice Rowland, who issued around four thousand parking permits this fall, said the only way to get a good place to park is to get here early in the morning.

Beyond 30

By Ken Zimmerman

It's probably sheer coincidence but certainly appropriate that those 40 policemen here studying traffic enforcement should pick the first two weeks of school to do so.

OU is proving to be one, large tactical situation for them.

From all indications, there's about seven million students driving to school every day and six million of them don't know how.

It's really interesting to take time out and spectate (no letters-to-the-editor on that word, please).

One of the best spots is on "Field House Turn" where every 37 seconds there is a near head-on collision. Just stand down by the east door of the Field House (well back from the roadway, of course) where you can see traffic to both the north and west.

There's always plenty of fair young maidens standing around (they're not students, just part of the campus beautification drive) to serve as driver-distractions.

The stage is set for a morning of thrills far surpassing even Jimmy Lynch's Death Dodgers.

Bearing down from the north you see Joe College, veteran driver from the Mormon Bridge Road and Interstate 80 races. From the west comes his opponent, Freddy Freshman who isn't a veteran at much of anything.

Then comes the crucial instant, the moment of truth—they've sighted the girls.

From your vantage point you can see their debonair smiles, the not-so-casual glances, the heavy drag on the Marlboros.

Then they reach it—the center of the curve—and you hold your breath.

Both guys go pale, jerk the steering wheel, cuss the other guy, then try and regain their composure. The only thing that saved them was the fact that both were on the wrong side of the road.

Similar performances may be seen to the south of the Administration Building and behind the Field House.

Other features of the Morning Show include the thrilling race to the last parking stall in the west lot. This act often includes a fist-fight encore.

Pedestrian participation is the big attraction down between the Library and the Student Center. There you may flirt with death as you romp across the road dodging traffic. The trick here is to stay off the marked crosswalks. They're for chickens.

It might be added that this whole affair, sponsored by the Omaha Association of Auto Repair Shops, is made possible through the co-operation of the "traffic experts" who last year revised the University's entrance and exit procedures.

Chi O, Lambda Chi To Hold Barn Party

An old-fashioned barn party is the theme for the Chi Omega-Lambda Chi Alpha exchange party Saturday night.

Square dancing and a weiner roast will be included in the night's activities.

The affair will be held in Hill Haven Barn at 7:30 p.m.

Two CAE Repeats Will Be Headlined By Top Talents

Authors, authorities and musicians will visit the University of Omaha Campus this fall in the College of Adult Education's "University Nights" series. Vance ("Hidden Persuaders") Packard will conduct the first program October 6 when he discusses the "Changing Character of the American People" in the Gene Eppley Conference Center.

Subsequent programs will be presented by:

—Dr. Nasrollah Fatemi, professor of social sciences at Farleigh Dickinson University.

—Reverend Karl Baehr, member of the Speaker's Bureau Research Committee of the United Nations.

—Willy Ley, world-renowned authority on space travel.

—Baroness Maria Von Trapp, of "Trapp Family Singers" fame.

—Kshama Fernando, United Nations diplomatic hostess.

—Robert St. John, correspondent for NBC Monitor.

—Harry Golden, author and humorist.

—Phillipe Entremont and Maurice Gendron, acclaimed musicians.

"Cinema" Returns

The "University Cinema" will return this fall with a new series of foreign films, headed October 2 by "Ikuru" (To Live!), a Japanese film.

Films from Greece, France, Spain, India, Belgian Congo, Italy and Argentina will appear in this film series. Showings are scheduled Mondays at 8:00 p.m. in the Gene Eppley Conference Center Auditorium.

The "Legacy of Man" series, discussions of the liberal arts, will speak over radio station KQAL-FM Thursday evenings at 9:30 starting October 5. "Listening Posts" may be set up by contacting Michael Beilis, director of community service programs, OU. Registration for "University Cinema" is $6, and $15 for the "University Nights" series. Registration is conducted through the CAE Office.

Campus Roads Now Marked

A record number of students who swelled campus rolls this semester probably found it easier getting on to the grounds then befuddled new-comers last fall.

The addition of $150 worth of signs pointing out the various routes onto the campus was made during the summer.

Paid for from Omaha University funds, the signs were erected by the city, Clarence Lefler, superintendent of building and grounds, said.

The signs are strategically located to guide auto-driving students off main thoroughfares which bar left turns and onto the lesser traveled routes which provide easiest access to school parking facilities.

Emilio P. Ratti is the new director of instruction in the Air Force ROTC. He has been with the Air Force for 19 years. For four years he was an instructor in the AFROTC Department at the State University of Iowa.

Seventeen employees have also been added to the various University departments.

Editorial Comments

By Chuck Barry

The merits of fraternities and sororities have been discussed many times and after much comment, those for and those against have gone away, each with his own convictions.

Where did they go?

It would seem logical that each sought his peers who applied the balm of agreement, soothing the wounds of battle.

In the end, the discussions served only to make those of firm conviction more firm. This points out that those involved have thought about the problems of Greek life and the advantages, coming to personally accepted conclusions.

When a freshman makes the investments of time, money and effort, he should know why he is doing this and be sure the returns on his investments are what he wants.

What is there to get?

The obvious things are parties; help with studies; and the prestige of a group name and image created by someone else.

The impression occasionally left is that Greeks can help a person through college the easy way with maximum fun and minimum work.

Initially, a freshman may say that this is what he wants. But is it?

He must answer questions not asked but damnably present. "Am I smart enough to get through school without the Greeks? If I am do I want to do all that work? If so, what area? Does anyone really care what I do and how I do it?"

Almost everyone admitted to this university has proven mental ability. Each is capable of mastering most courses. In almost, every instance, at least

Policemen Attend Training Program

About forty Omaha policemen are attending a traffic training session at Omaha University for the next two weeks.

The program is sponsored by the C. A. E. in cooperation with the Traffic Institute of Northwestern University.

Director of conferences and short courses, Michel Beilis, said, "The program is nationally recognized as one of the best in the nation for professional training in the field of police traffic."

enough to get a degree.

A person who does not like to work, even a little, will reach a stagnant position where all things will sour. It has been said that a man is like a tree. The minute he stops growing, he starts dying.

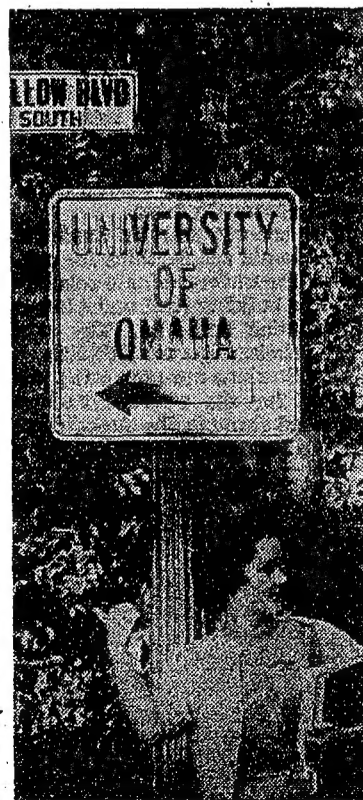

A decision on what area to study in is not demanded of anyone on his initial contract with college. Freshmen who worry about this are putting the cart before the horse. Select courses that will be enjoyable and later in your college career there will be a basis for selecting a specific area of endeavor.

For some it is a rude awakening to find that what he does, how he does it, and why he does it, effects him totally and almost everyone else only partially.

This is the biggest reason in the world for being as independent as possible in as many areas as possible. Too much dependence placed outside the individual can cause a disastrous experience for a lifetime if that support is withdrawn.

Greeks have activities and functions that can be of use to many. They should be used.

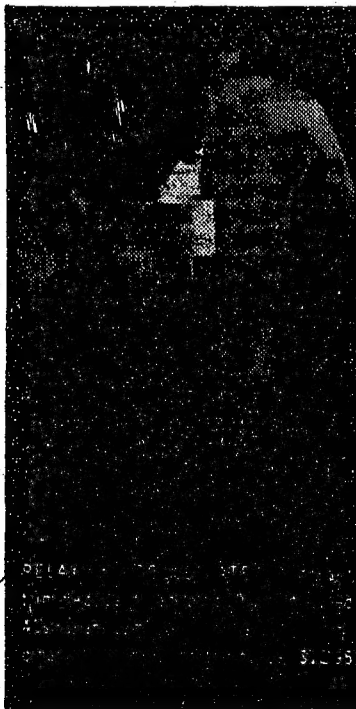

Being a Greek can promote future success or disaster, depending on what a person puts into it and expects back.

Tietz Barn Is Site for Sing

Tietz's Barn will be the site of the eleventh annual Sig Ep Sing on Friday, Sept. 29.

Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity will begin the Greek events on campus with the all-Greek sing competition. The sing will begin at 7:30 p. m.

This year's competition songs will be "Goodnight My Someone" for the women's groups, and "Charmaine" for the men's groups.

A trophy will be given to the first place winners. Second and third places will receive ribbons.

Terry Bernth and Bill Gust are co-chairmen for the event. Terry Olsen will be the master-of-ceremonies.

Bootstrappers Are Welcome in 309

The "Command Post" for the Society of the Pen and Sword is in full operation in Room 309 of the Student Center.

All bootstrappers are invited to stop in any Wednesday from 1200 to 1400 hours.

The date and time of the first general meeting will be announced on the Pen and Sword bulletin boards located in the first floor southwest corridor of the Administration Building and on the second floor of the Student Center across from the checkroom.

An election of officers will be held early this fall.

Greeks Reap Bumper Crop

Formal rush week Sept. 10 through 17 yielded 206 new pledges for the Greek organizations on campus.

Dean Elizabeth Hill, dean of women, felt that this year's sorority rush was handled well. Out of 139 rushees 129 women received bids.

"The rushees appearance as a group was much improved as compared with previous years. Formal rush went well. This semester will give the new pledges a chance to prove themselves," Dean Curt Siemers commented. There were 120 men rushees and 92 were taken.

The sorority pledges are as follows:

Alpha Xi Delta: Linda Anderson, Carol Bachus, Virginia Bohaty, Anna Marie Bonanno, Lee Ann Borchman, Julie Bowen, Kathie Clark, Susan Collins, Sandra Croft, Shirley Dohaly, Marie Englehart, Gail Enquist, Connie Fleming, Marlene Hall, Heather Hamilton, Sandra Holben, Christie Jensen, Judy Jensen, Karen Jensen, Judy Jones, Gloria Kiggins, Julenn Lefgren, Claudia May, Colleen O'Brien, Jackie Schultz, Marjorie Scott, Diane Shannon, Norrine Vasholz, Diana Wagner, Kathleen Welniak, Jeanette Wood, Sharon Zagar, Nancy Rolle.

Tau Kappa Epsilon: Jim Adwers, Gary Rogers, Roger Suloff, Ken Reidaman, Kirt Cheles, William Bowen, Douglas Capener, David Miller, Terry Campbell.

There are 621 metered parking spaces on campus, 231 reserved spaces and 684 free, bringing the total available to students to 1,305.

Frosh Given Boost By All School Mixer

This year's first all-school dance September 22 will be geared to help freshmen get acquainted. Green badges will be given to freshmen to distinguish them from the upper classmen.

The Inter-Pep sponsored mixer, held in the Student Center Ballroom, will be open only to freshmen from 9 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. From 10:30 p. m. on the dance will be open to upper classmen.

Jim Howard and Louie Miloni will present a skit depicting Omaha University's typical freshmen during intermission.

The "Gathering of the Green" dance idea was originated by Jack Malik, band director, and is a first for O.U.

The Carl Jay Band will play.

Episcopalians To Meet Sunday

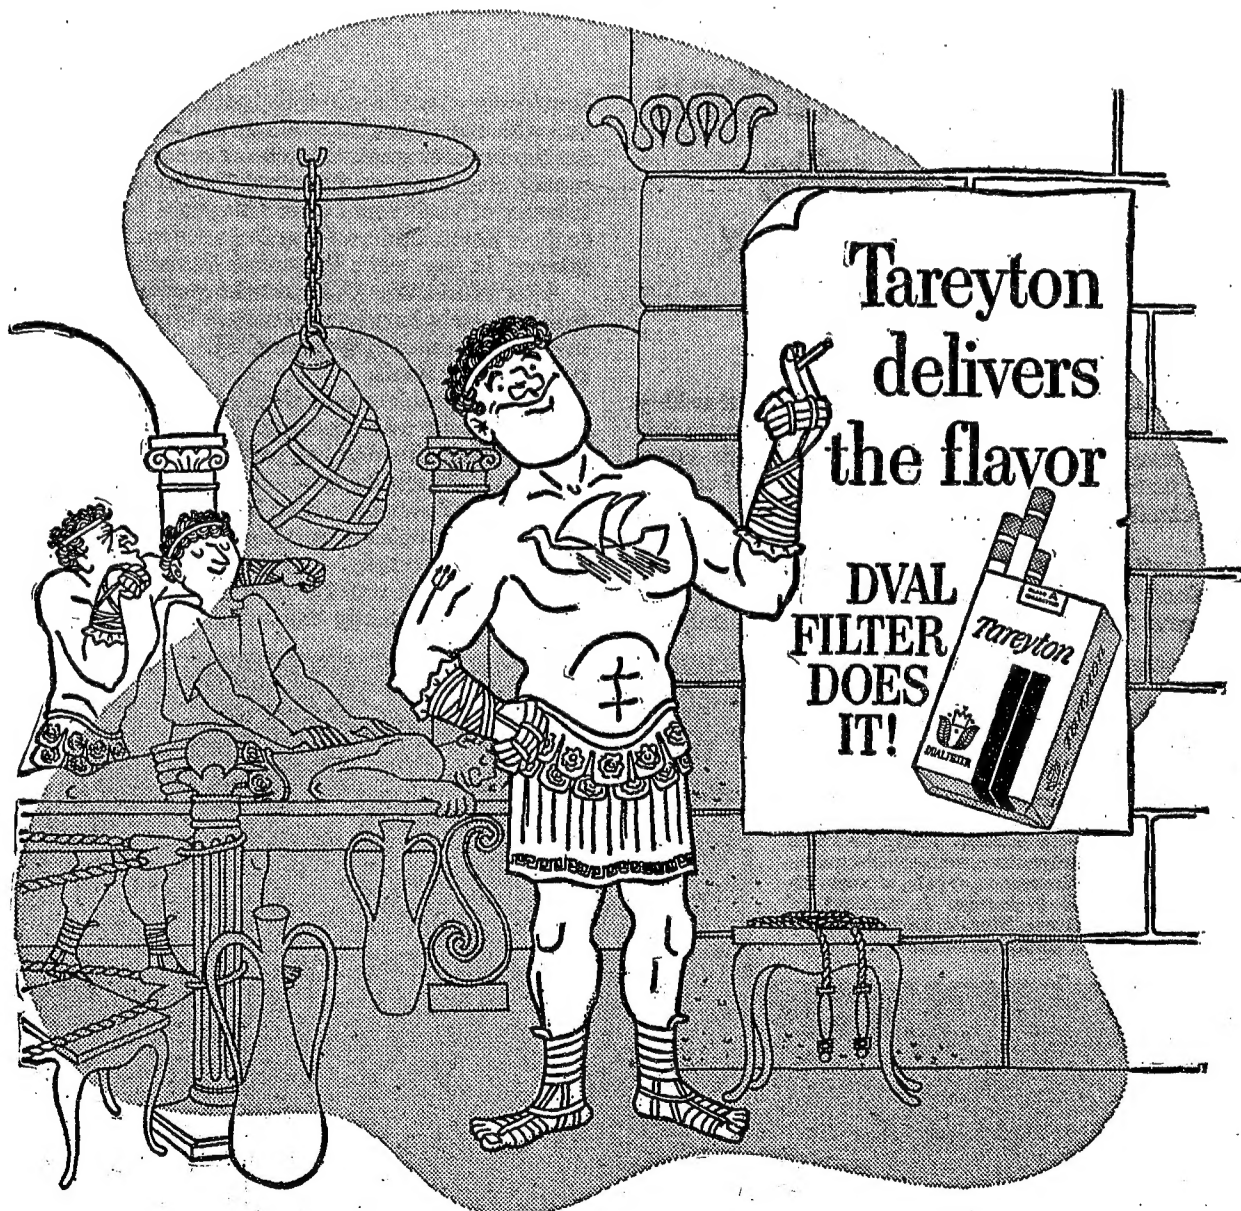

Canterbury Club, a religious group for Episcopalians, is holding its first meeting at Trinity Cathedral Sunday at 6:30 p. m. for Sung Evensong.

James Robbins will conduct a program on the history of the church in Omaha.

Speakeasies Invite Interested Students

The Speakeasies, student toastmasters group, will hold its first two meetings of the year September 25 and 26 in Alcoves C and D in the Student Center from 11:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m.

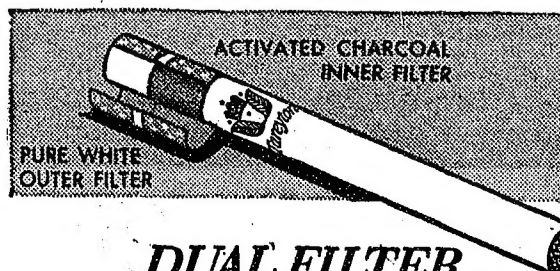

All persons interested in improving their speaking ability are invited for lunch and a session of impromptu speeches.

Gridders Seek Second Win In Band Day Tilt Tomorrow

OU's Roger Sayers zips to a touchdown here in the season opener against Morningside last Saturday. Roger scored two touchdowns during the afternoon on runs of 18 and 55 yards.

Band Day will be an added attraction as the Omaha University gridgers tackle Colorado State College on the OU Stadium field.

The Indians, impressive in their season opener against Morningside, will be looking for their second scalp in a row. The Indians haven't won two in a row since 1956.

The two clubs did not meet in 1960. The last meeting between the two clubs was in 1948. The Coloradans won that one 19-6.

While the Indians were winning last week the Bears were taking it on the chin from South Dakota State 36-13 Saturday.

Coach Al Caniglia's club received a boost when letterman Gary Baughman reported for practice Monday. Working commitments prevented him from reporting earlier.

No serious injuries were received in the Morningside encounter. Sophomore Ken Allen, a quarterback, sat out the first game and may not be ready for tomorrow's game.

Jim Foster, also on the injured list, has reportedly quit the squad.

The band day program starting with a parade in down town Omaha will perform during the half-time.

Nine high school bands from the surrounding area plus the OU band will carry out the theme "America Beautiful" during the half-time show.

Athletic Director Virgil Yelkin, because of the large turn out last week, has urged students to arrive at the stadium as early as possible so that seating will not be as much a problem as last week.

The Indians copped the season opener with Morningside Saturday, 32-6.

The opening win marked the first Indian victory over Morningside since 1955.

A record crowd of 5,400 watched the contest.

CIC Grid Clubs Win Four, Lose One in Openers

Central Intercollegiate Conference teams fared fairly well in the first games of the 1961 season last week.

Out of the six teams in the loop, four won. The only loss was absorbed by Emporia State who lost to Lincoln, Missouri 22-6. St. Benedict's, last year's league champion, did not play.

Omaha University, Fort Hays State, Washburn, and Pittsburg all chalked up victories.

Season play in the CIC starts October 13 and 14.

Picnic Top WRA Event of Year

Women's Recreation Association will have a picnic for its new members and officers on Thursday, September 28, in Elmwood Park at 4 p. m.

The picnic will be the main WRA event of the year. About 200 girls are expected at this "get together."

Joni Jorgenson is the WRA sponsor.

Plans will be made for this year's intramurals. Preparations will be made for the softball season which starts October 3.

WRA is open to all college women.

Fort Hays State, Emporia State, Pittsburg State and Washburn have been CIC members since the conference was started in 1928.

Football, Bowling Opening Activities in Intramurals

The University of Omaha's intramural program will open its season next week with a wider variety of activities designed for a greater number of students to participate.

Intramural Director Burt Kurth said he is pleased with last year's participation in intramurals, but would like to increase the number this year.

There will be a meeting today at 1 p.m. in Room 301 of the Student Center for all managers of flag football and bowling teams interested in participating in intramural competition.

Schedules will be prepared and rules discussed.

He said, "I feel there are more students who would like to participate but don't feel they are good enough." Mr. Kurth then asserted that "The primary purpose of an intramural program is not to produce athletes but to provide a variety of activities where everyone can participate whether they have the ability or not."

The intramural office has a new location this year. It is in the Dean of Students Office Room 240 of the Administration Building.

Tentative schedule for this year's events:

INTRAMURAL ACTIVITIES

Sept.-Nov.—Flag Football, Dodge St. Field.

Nov.—One Mile Team Race, O.U. Track.

Sept.-April—Bowling, Individual Championship, Team league—Postal league, Doubles Tournament, at West Lanes.

October—Badminton, Tournament, Fieldhouse.

Oct.-Jan.—Table tennis, Women's Gym.

Nov.-March—Basketball, Fieldhouse.

January—Wrestling, Fieldhouse.

Feb.-March—Volleyball, Fieldhouse.

February—Indoor Track, Fieldhouse.

March—Swimming Meet, JCC.

April-May—Softball, Elmwood Park.

April - May—Golf, Fontenelle Park.

May—Outdoor Track, O.U. Track.

May—Tennis, Dewey Park.

M&M's to Hold Meeting Monday

The M & M's, the Omaha University Women's Physical Education club, will hold its first business meeting of the year on Monday, September 25th.

The club is composed of students interested in learning more about their field through lectures, discussions, and recreational activity.

The M & M's urge all women students majoring or minoring in physical education to attend this meeting.

The meeting will be held at 7:00 o'clock at the West Quonset.

Career Cues

"Cure for job boredom: I made my favorite pastime my career!"

Richard Bertram, President
Bertram Yacht Co., Division of Nautech Corp.

"When you stop to think what percent of our total waking hours is spent bread-winning, you realize how tragic it is for any man to work at an occupation he doesn't enjoy. Besides frittering away life, it reduces chances of success to just about zero. I know... because it almost happened to me!

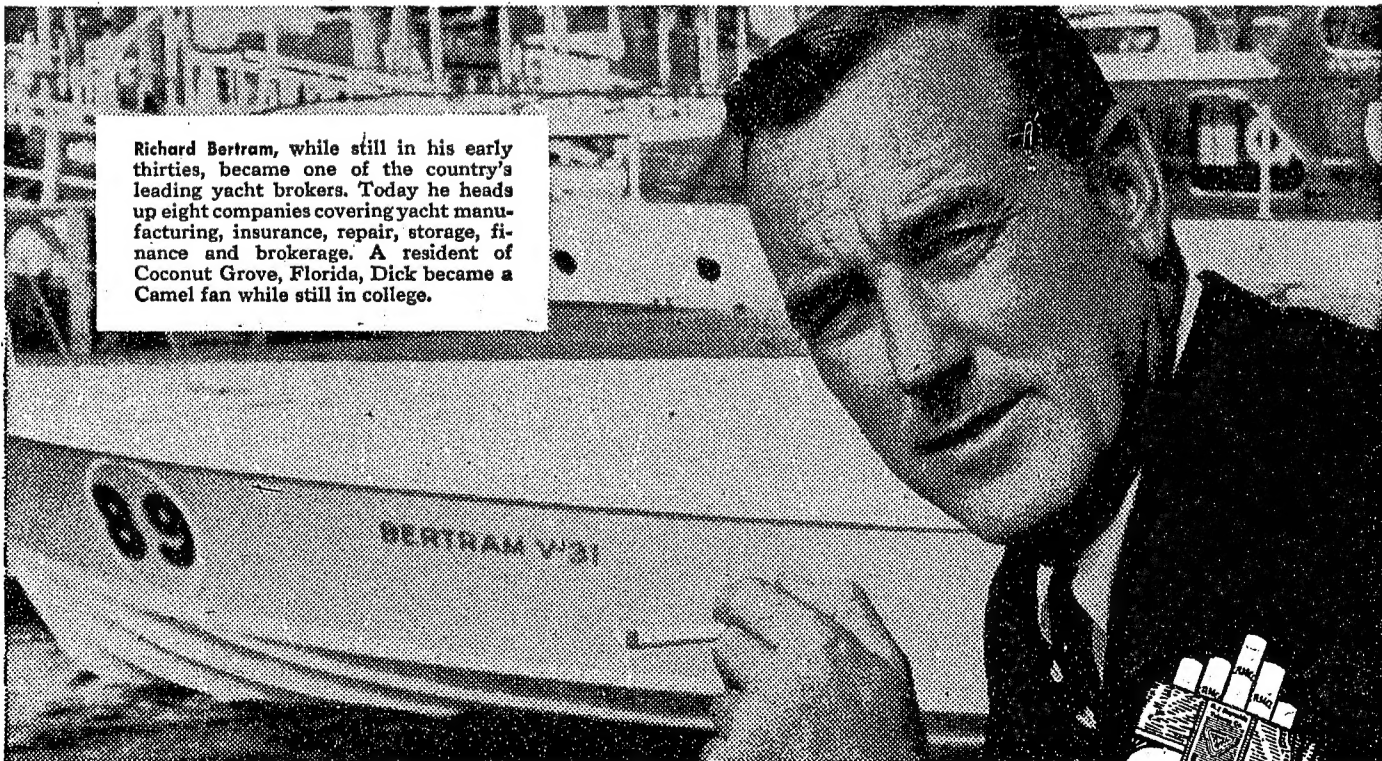

After college, I did what I thought was expected of me and joined a solid, Manhattan-based insurance firm. I soon found office routine wasn't for me. I lived only for lunch hour when I could walk to the Battery and mentally sail with the ships that stood out in the Narrows... and for the summer weekends when I could go sailing. Fortunately, the company I worked for is one of the leading insurers of yachts and after two years I was transferred to their Yacht Underwriting Department. Enjoyment and interest in my work improved immediately 100%.

After World War II, I started my own yacht brokerage firm and yacht insurance agency in Miami, combining my marine insurance background with an even closer relationship with boats.

My only problem ever since has been a feeling of guilt that my work was too easy. I love boats and boating people. That affection has paid me rewards way beyond the financial security it has also provided.

The moral's obvious. You have an odds-on chance for success and happiness working at what you enjoy most—what comes naturally! And if it's not just frivolous, your life's work could well be what you now consider just a pastime. It's certainly worth thinking about, anyway!"

Richard Bertram, while still in his early thirties, became one of the country's leading yacht brokers. Today he heads up eight companies covering yacht manufacturing, insurance, repair, storage, finance and brokerage. A resident of Coconut Grove, Florida, Dick became a Camel fan while still in college.
